

Proposed Standards for Distance Learning Courses

October 2013

1. Distance learning faculty will be evaluated using procedures established by each department and college, following recommendations of the Distance Learning Committee
2. The Quality Matters rubric will serve as the reviewing framework for distance learning courses.
3. All instructors who teach online are recommended to implement student verification and authentication processes for testing including Proctor U, Keyboard recognition, the use of a Testing Center, or other existing or evolving online test proctoring resources.
4. Faculty members who design or teach distance learning courses will complete the Quality Matters APPQMR course (pending funding) and D2L faculty training prior to the design or redesign and review of their courses.
